

How to Care for Pet Greens® Pet Grass®

Pet Greens Live Pet Grass typically lasts about 2-3 weeks. Follow the instructions below to maintain healthy growth and keep your Pet Grass fresh and delicious for its full life-span. Pet Grass cannot be re-potted and should be replaced on a regular basis.

Watering

Water your Pet Grass about twice a week. The best way to water your Pet Grass is to place the container in a saucer and water it from the bottom. Make sure the soil stays moist but do not let your Pet Grass stand in water.

Light/Ventilation

Place your Pet Grass in a bright, well ventilated location. Avoid direct sunlight and/or hot locations. A bright kitchen window is ideal! Pet Grass is considered a leafy green. The best way to extend the life of your Pet Grass is to put the container in the refrigerator at night.

Feeding

Feed to your pet as a healthy reward or snack. Pet Grass can be fed to cats, dogs, birds, reptiles, and small animals. Adjust the serving size according to the size of your pet. Reptiles and small animals should only be fed small amounts of Pet Grass. Consult your veterinarian for more information about the proper serving size for your pet.
